There was some sort of media to express ideas, emotions & feelings of humans with the origin of mankind. It has been proved by linguistically that letters were originated with the evolution of these expressive media. Brahmi letters which were originated in Bharath (India) were identified as a root language by some ideologists. Although it had not clearly proved that Brahmi alphabet as a root language, it had made an impact on Bharath as well as other nearby areas. So there was no clear conclusion about the origin of this alphabet, but the most ideologists think that it had originated by an Indian root. Some other ideologists think that Brahmi alphabet was originated with the origin of Semitic or any other. There are some truthful evidence upto some extent related to the ideologies of Indian origin when analyzing all the ideologies. It is difficult to make a clear conclusion about that, but the combination of Aryans & Anaryans made the path for the origination of many alphabets. So it can be identified that Aryans or Anaryans had made a greater impact on the origination of Brahmi alphabet and also it is proved that Sri Lanka & lots of other nearby countries of Bharath had the influence of part of Brahmi letters. It will be expected to make an investigation about this using secondary sources.
